ALL ABOUT SHOES!
Gentlemen are Requested not to Read this

We do not boast of Auction Shoes
At shillings six a pair,
For sure no lady would them choose
That wants a shoo to wear.

Now very much we feel inclin'd
Such Gaiters to expose,
They are not good, and you will find
Them bursting round the toes.

Such ill-made Shoes you could not wear
We often with them meet;
Just made to sell, they rip and tear
When walking in the street.

A lady passing by one day
Was caused a deal of trouble,
Superbly dress'd in garments gay
And Shoes not worth a bubble.

New pair of Shoes, and good ones too,
As the dear lady thought,
Until her feet protruding though
Proclaimed them good for naught.

We pay the prices for our work
To have it honest made,
To worthy men who are in truth
The masters of their trade.

And we can boast of extra nice
Of beautiful and neat,
Of fairy Shoes at fairest price
To decorate the feet.

JACOB SNYDER, TAILOR,
The Hero of One Hundred Fits per Month!

I would respectfully set forth my claim to public attention, as a Fashionable Tailor, as follows:
Because I keep an excellent assortment of Cloths, Cassimeres, Vestings and Trimmings, which, when examined, always please.
Because my work is made up in a manner that takes down the country and gives all my customers a city appearance.
Because I am not inferior as a Cutter to the best to be found anywhere.
Because long experience in my business gives me entire control over it, and I am not dependant upon any one to lift me out of the suds.
Because I am still on the sunny side of forty, and therefore my taste as a Cutter and workman unimpaired.
Call on me, in the corner room of the "Brant House." Give me a trial and you will go away pleased.

Select Poetry.

"He Giveth his Beloved Sleep."

How soft how tranquil is the bed,
Where th' good man lay his peaceful head?
He sleeps; no fear of harm is there,
For God hath heard his evening prayer:
He sleeps; and a bright Angel's wing
Around his couch is hovering.

And to the stricken child of God,
Who suffers 'neath the chast'ning rod,
Who learns in this sad world of care,
How much of grief the heart can bear,
'Tis sweet,—tho' all day long to weep,—
At night to find the balm of sleep.

The angels watch his eyelids close,
And joy to see his soft repose;
They bend to whisper in his ear
Dreams of the sainted and the dear;
A holy spell around they throw,
And he forgets the while his woe.

The stirring heart, by sin distress'd,
With such calm sleep is never bless'd;
The sting of conscience tortures there,
With keen remorse and bitter care.
He dreams of ill, and danger near,
And spends the night in gloom and fear.

Oh ye from whom sweet sleep hath flown,
Who through long, weary nights will moan,
Turn to His breast, a Saviour's breast,
There ye shall find a quiet rest;
He gives not sighs, nor tears to weep,
"He giveth His beloved sleep!"

Select Miscellany.

Thunder and Lightning.

There are some people who can never overcome nervous excitement and terror in thunder storms. It is common to ridicule such fear; but laughter and ridicule can never drive them away. They spring from constitutional causes, and persons so affected suffer intensely during the prevalence of a thunder storm. That they are thus affected does not indicate cowardice or unworthy terror. Perhaps in imminent deadly peril, that would appal and unman one who is insensible to the fears or the grandeur of electric storms, these very persons would manifest the calmest courage. Let not those, therefore, of tough nerves and hardened constitutions and calm temperaments, boast themselves over their neighbors because they can endure "the storm's" career, "the lightning's shock," without winking.

There are, doubtless, many who are filled with fears and perturbations, during thunder and lightning, from an undefined sense of danger, and because of their total ignorance of the nature of it or the source from whence it may come. To such persons, the louder the clap of thunder the more agitated they become, not knowing, or forgetting that, when the thunder strikes the ear all the danger is past.—Those who are struck by lightning never see it, nor even hear the thunder which follows. The danger of being struck by lightning is the least of all the dangers by sea or land to which we are continually exposed. If a thousand are killed every year in the United States, it is but one in every 30,000 of the inhabitants. Compare this with the mortality in the city of Boston, which is, every week, on the average, one in 22,000, and every year one in 40 of the population.

A little information gathered from a recent publication, The Reason Why, may tend to allay the fears of some. At any rate, questions which are constantly being asked are here satisfactorily answered:

What is the cause of lightning?

Lightning is the result of electrical discharges from the clouds.

What is thunder?

Thunder is the noise which succeeds the rush of the electrical fluid through the air.

When does lightning occur?

When clouds, charged with the opposite electricities, approach, the forces rush to each other, and combine in a state of equilibrium.

Why does lightning attend this movement of the forces of electricity?

Because the atmosphere, being unable to convey the great changes of electricity as they rush towards each other, acts as an insulator, and the lightning is caused by the violence of the electricity in forcing its passage. When the conducting power is equal to the force of electricity, it passes invisibly, noiselessly and harmlessly, whenever it finds a sufficient source of conduction.

Why does lightning sometimes appear forked?

Because it being resisted in its progress by the air, the electricity divides into two or more points, flies from point to point, and seeks a passage in different directions.

Does lightning ever pass upwards from the earth to the clouds?

Yes, when the earth is charged with a different electricity from that which is in the clouds.

Why is it dangerous to stand near a tree during an electric storm?

Because the tree is a better conductor than air; and electricity would probably strike the tree and pass to the person standing near.

Why is it dangerous to sit near a fireplace?

Because the chimney, being a tall object and the smoke a good conductor, would probably attract the electricity and convey it to the body of a person sitting near the fire.

Why is it dangerous to be near water during a thunder storm?

Because water is a good conductor and the vapor arising from it might attract the electricity.

Are iron houses dangerous?

No; they are very safe, because their entire surface is a good conductor and would convey the electricity harmlessly to the earth.

Are iron bedsteads dangerous?

No; they are safe, because the iron frame, completely surrounding the body, and having a great capacity for conduction, would keep electricity away from the body.

Why is it safe to be in bed during a thunder storm?

Because feathers, hair, wool, cotton, &c., especially when dry, are good insulators or non-conductors.

What is the safest situation to be in during a storm?

In the centre of a room, isolated as far as possible from surrounding objects; sitting on a chair and avoiding handling any of the conducting substances. The windows and doors should be closed to prevent drafts of air.

In the open air, what is the safest situation?

To keep aloof as far as possible from elevated structures; regard the rain as a protection against the lightnings stroke, for wet cloths would supply so good a conductor, that a large amount of electricity would pass over a man's body, through wet clothes, and he would be quite unconscious of it.

Neck-Twisting in Church.

There are practices tolerated in religious congregations which Christians, who are jealous for the honor of their Master's house, should utterly condemn. Decorum is the handmaid of devotional feelings and for this reason the house of God should never be disturbed by the slightest approach to irreverence. "It is a part of my religion," said a pious old lady, when asked why she went early to church, "It is part of my religion not to interrupt the religion of others." And we believe if many a congregation made it a part of their religion not to twist their necks out of joint to witness the entrance of every person who passes up the aisle of the church, it would be better for their necks and their religion. A gross abuse of religious decorum sometimes needs a harsh remedy. We give that adopted by Henry Clay Dean, who was at one time chaplain of Congress. The anecdote is from a paper called "The Pacific Methodist":

Being worried, one afternoon, by this turning practice in his congregation.—Mr. Dean stopped in his sermon, and said—

"Now, you listen to me, and I'll tell you who the people are, as each one of them comes in."

He then went on with his discourse until a gentleman entered, when he bawled out like an usherer, "Deacon A who keeps the shop over the way," and then went on with his sermon.

Presently another man passed up the aisle, and he gave his name, residence and occupation; so he continued for some time.

At length some one entered the door who was unknown to Mr. Dean, when he cried out, "A little old man, with drab coat and an old white hat; don't know him—look for yourselves."

That congregation was cured.

FIGHT BETWEEN A DOCTOR AND DOCTRESS.—A lively and ludicrous combat between a female physician, Mrs. Stilwell, and a regular trowsered doctor, named McNeil, took place in the street of DeWitt Iowa, a few days ago. The affair grew out of professional rivalry, the immediate provocation being a lengthy article in the village paper from the pen of the male disciple of Esculapius, severely reflecting on the character of his professional sister. The latter, after a careful diagnosis of the case, decided that it was one calling for the vigorous application of a stimulant in the shape of a cowskin.

Providing herself with the article, she hunted up her traducer, and plied him so assiduously with heavy doses of the new therabeutical agent, at remarkably short intervals, that the patient, unable to bear such bold practice, clasped the fair practitioner in his arms, and held her so forcibly and affectionately that the efforts of the town marshal were necessary to release her. At the latest accounts both doctor and patient were doing well.

☞ Mr. Fudge, in describing an interview with his Mary Ann says: She put one arm around my neck, and t'other one whar the circling goes round a hoss, tuk the inturn on me with her left foot, and give me a kiss. My toes felt like as if minnies were nibbling at um—a cold streak run up and down my back like a lizzard with a turkey-hen after him in settin time, and my stummick was hot and unsatisfied like.

The True Lady.

No girl can become a true lady without knowledge of household duties. Whatever may be her literary proficiency and her social qualities, without the ability to do housework, if necessity demand, her education is defective.

Mrs. Washington, mother of the General, always attended her domestic affairs, even in the presence of the most distinguished guests. Lafayette paid her a visit before his departure for Europe, in the fall of 1774. He was conducted to her mansion by one of her grandsons.—"There, sir, is my grandmother," said he as they approached the house. Lafayette looked up and saw at work in the garden, "clad in domestic clothes, and her gray head covered with a plain straw hat, the mother of his hero." She gave Lafayette a cordial welcome, observing, "Ah, Marquis, you see an old woman; but come, I can make you welcome to my poor dwelling, without the parade of changing my dress."

Mrs. Martha Washington, the wife of the General, was no less distinguished for her management of houshold affairs. She was a good seamstress, a good cook, and a good mother." She understood every department of domestic labor, and was ever ready to do what circumstances required. Mrs. Troupe, the accomplished wife of a captain of the British navy, once visited her, and she gave the following account of Mrs. Washington's appearance:

"Well, I will honestly tell you I never was so ashamed in all my life. You see, Madame———, and Madame———, and myself, thought we would visit Lady Washington; and as she was said to be so grand a lady, we thought we must put our best bibs and bands on. So we dressed ourselves in the most elegant ruffles and silks, and were introduced to her ladyship. And, don't you think, we found her knitting and with a check apron on! She received us very graciously and easily, but after the compliments were over, she resumed her knitting. There we were, without a stitch of work, and sitting in state; but General Washington's lady, with her own hands was knitting stockings for her own husband."

Timely Warning.

A yankee editor thus confesses to have dealings with Satin, for the good of his readers, of course:

I was sitting in my study, when I heard a knock at the door.

"Come in," said I; when the door opened, and who should walk in but Satan!

"How d'ye do?" said he.

"Pretty well," said I.

"What are you about, preparing your leader?"

"Yes," said I.

"Ah! I dare say you think you are doing a great deal of good?"

"Well, not so much as I could wish; but a little, I hope," said I.

"You have a very large lot of readers?" said he.

"Well, pretty well for that," said I.

"And I dare say you are pretty proud of them?" remarked Satan.

"No, I am not, for not one half of them pay for their papers," said I.

"You don't say so!" he exclaimed.

"Yes, that I do; not one half of them pay for their papers!"

"Well," said he, "they are an immoral lot; but let me have the list, I think I can do a trifle myself with such people."

Katrine's Early Adventures.

A Philadelphia paper says: The following story is good because it is true.—We had it from the lips of a good woman, who was told it by the principal actor herself:

"Ven I first come to Filadelfy to serve, I was very uncivilized," said Katrine, now a tidy, intelligent servant in a respectable family. "I laugh mooch, and I feel mooch ashamed to remember how I behave ven I know so little. Shon, he took me to the theatre one night, when I been in Filadelfy but three weeks. We sits in the gallery, and we not see good, and Shon said he would get a better seat. So he puts his leg round de post, and shlides down mid de pit, and he looks up and calls out, "Katrine, Katrine! coom down! thish a good view here!" and I learned over, and said I, "How can I coom Shon?" And he said: "Just shlide down." So I put my leg round de pillar, and I shlide down too. Donder, how de people laugh! Dey laugh so dey play no more dat night upon de stage. Everybody laugh, and yell, and whistle all over de house! I was mooch ashamed, den, though I knew not any harm! But now, I blushes every time I dinks of it."

☞ A lady not far off gives her views of woman's rights to the world. She is against the interference of woman in politics. She asks pointedly:

That's a poser! We think she will pass.

Italian Blasphemy.

We find in a letter just received from Florence, by the Philadelphia Bulletin, that the Italians there have put in circulation a number of parodies on the Lord's Prayer, the creed &c., which do them but little credit. Such blasphemy belongs to that "jesting which is not seemly." We give a few samples:

THE PATER NOSTER.—"Our Father who art at the camp of the First Soldier of Italian Independence. May thy name be praised, oh, Victor! May thy peaceful reign come, may thy will be done under Italian Heaven, as it is on Italian earth; give us back to-day to Liberty; make our Nationality respected as we respect that of others; guide us to enjoy peace, but deliver us from the devouring Austrian. Amen.

ANOTHER.—"Our Father that art at Vienna. May thy name be forgotten in Italy. May thy kingdom be bounded by the Alps. May thy will not be done under Heaven as it is on earth. Give us back our daily bread that thy satellites devour.—Return to us our gold and silver that thou hast robbed us of. We will return to thee thy paper money. Do not drive us to desperation, but free us from thyself and thy myrmidons, once for all. Amen."

THE CREED.—"I believe in Napoleon the First, omnipotent, creator of the French Empire, and of the Kingdom of Italy. And in Napoleon the Third, his nephew, our only Saviour, who was conceived by the influence of Providence, and born to liberate us.

"Suffered under the Orleans, reviled, arrested and imprisoned. Descended from the Fortress of Ham, thence resuscitated from civel death.

"Rose to the Presidency of the French Republic, sits upon the throne of Napoleon the Great.

"From there he has come to judge the living Italians and the dead Austrians.

"I believe in the constitutional reign of Victor Emanuel, in the Holy Italian League, in return of all Emigrants, and in the life of Brotherhood eternal."

THE CURSE OF OUR COUNTRY.—President Buchanan, in a recent speech delivered to the students of the College in Raleigh, uttered the following which is true as gospel:—

"The great curse of our country—that curse which has involved so many of the most promising young men of the land in ruin, which has made mothers miserable, and which has made fathers feel disgraced by the spectacle of their own offspring—is the crime of drunkenness, more deadly by far than the pestilence, than the yellow fever; than the plague, and than all other calamities that have visited man.—We bring upon ourselves a greater calamity than Heaven has brought upon us, in any form or shape of misery. Everywhere you see the wrecks of this dreadful vice scattered over the land, in the destruction of the finest prospects that ever were presented by the youth of any country."

THE BLOOM OF AGE.—It has been beautifully remarked that a good woman never grows old. Years may pass over her head, but if benevolence and virtue dwell in her heart, she is as cheerful as when the spring of life opened to her view. When we look at a good woman, we never think of her age; she looks as charming as when the rose of health first bloomed on her cheek. That rose has not faded yet; it never will fade. In her neighborhood she is the friend and benefactor. Who does not respect and love the woman who has passed her days in acts of kindness and mercy? We repeat, such a woman can never grow old. She will always be fresh and buoyant in spirits, and active in humble deeds of mercy and benevolence.

THIS BEAUTIFUL WORLD!—"Ah! this beautiful world! Sometimes it is all sunshine and gladness, and heaven lies not far off—and then it suddenly changes, and is dark and sorrowful, and the clouds shut out the day. In the lives of the saddest of us there are bright days like this when we feel as if we could take the great world in our arms. Then come gloomy hours when the fire will not burn on our hearts, and all within is dismal, cold and dark. Believe me, every heart has its secret sorrows which the world knows not; oftentimes we call a man cold when he is only sad."—Longfellow.

☞ After whipping and coaxing had failed to induce a horse to move, the gentleman who was driving, or trying to, gave up. Then a cartman went to him saying, "If you please, sir, I'll make him go."—The privilege was granted, and going up to the gutter, he took up a handful of mud and rubbed it upon the nose of the horse, whereupon the animal started without trouble. The cartman accounted for the effect, saying, "O, sir, it gives him a new idea."

State Senator.

As we anticipated, and as will be seen by reference to the proceedings of the Peoples' County Convention, published in another column, our townsman, Col. L. W. Hall, received the almost unanimous nomination, so far as this county is concerned, for State Senator. Considering the efforts made to bring about a different result—the contest lying between Judge McCune, a popular and clever gentleman, and Col H.—the vote, as recorded, shows the unanimity of sentiment which prevailed in his favor and his popularity with his party at home. If it be possible for the Peoples' Party to carry this district for Senator—and taking the vote of last fall as a criterion there would appear to be a strong probability that such will be the case, we should like to see Col. H nominated by the Conference, believing that he can poll as large a vote in the other counties ties in the district and a much larger vote at home than any other man who could have been selected, and from Blair the heavy vote must come to elect the Peoples' candidate.

A great disideratum in selecting a candidate for this office is to get one who has the ability and the nerve to stump the district, and in this particular the Peoples' Convention was fortunate in its choice, as the gentleman named combines both in an eminent degree.

If his party in the other counties in the district act wisely, the nomination will undoubtedly be conceded to the nominee of this county; and should he be elected, we know he will represent the district in a manner creditable alike to himself and his constituents, and fully sustain the reputation given it by our friend in the "town over-the-hill," who was honored with the responsible position of Speaker last winter.

ELECTION FRAUDS.—From the Johnstown Tribune we learn that the Grand Jury of Cambria county has found true bills against Albert F. Cantwell, Henry Reusch, Werner Bender, John W. Short and Charles Gleason, for wilful fraud in the discharge of their duties as officers of the election held in Washington township on the 12th of October, 1858. Our only wonder is that justice in this case has been so long delayed, as from what we have heretofore published, in connection with the able charge of Judge Taylor on the contested election case, it must be apparent to every one that the men named were guilty of a flagrant and daring viblation of one of the most sacred trust that could be committed to men in a free country. The finding of bills against these men and bringing them before a court of justice is no party scheme, but a matter in which every honest and rightminded man, without distinction of party, must feel an interest. If they are guilty of the crime laid to their charge, of which there now appears to be little, if any doubt, should they not receive the reward the law prescribes? and should it be meeted out to them to its full extent, will not every one say amen to it? If they be permitted to escape, the ends of public justice will be subverted, and the ballot-box, the palladium of our liberty, be at the mercy of lawless men in every district. Let them have their reward.

A CHANCE.—The editor of the Blairsville True American advertises for a partner to take charge of the books and editorial department of that paper, the time of the editor being so much occupied with out-door business that he cannot attend to the paper. Here's an opening for a young man with a few hundred.

SECRET SOCIETY.—The N. Y. Tribune reveals the existence of a secret order of filibusters, called the Knights of the Golden Circle," which it says is composed of two legions of ten thousand men each, and is intended for the conquest of Cuba.

Nature and Objects of the War.

A western reader of the N. Y. Tribune addressed a note to the editor, requesting him to give the real causes of the present war in Italy—by whom and for what purpose it was set on foot? and asking with which party American Republicans should feel a sympathy, to which the editor gives the following replies which we copy in full, believing that he fully understands whereof he affirms, and feeling sure that such a statement of the case will, at this time, prove as interesting to our readers as anything else we could present.

The questions of our correspondent take a pretty wide range, but we will endeavor, as far as possible, to answer them in their order.—First, then, as to the real cause of the war; it is exceedingly complex, being made up of the ambition and the necessities of Louis Napoleon, the wants of the Bonaparte family, the ambition of the Sardinian royal house, and the ardent aspiration of the Italians for national independence. These various springs of action having combined France and Sardinia to attack Austria, that power, knowing that war was resolved upon, and that all proposals of negotiation, mediation, and what not, were but so many diplomatic devices to gain time for the completion of the French and Sardinian preparations, finally took the bold resolution of commencing hostilities herself, and, at the beginning of May, occupied the Lomellina, a rich Sardinian province between the rivers Ticino, Po, and Sesia, with an army of some 150,000 men. By this step she assumed the immense responsibility of actually breaking the peace of Europe; she has gained by it the support of her army of occupation, for a month at least, at the expense of Sardinia.

But let us look a little more closely at the elements of which the efficient cause of the war is composed. Of these the personal impulses which govern Louis Napoleon are the most influential. Emulous of the renown of the first Napoleon, he desires glory; but he desires also to leave his son and the Napoleonic dynasty in possession of the throne of France. To this end, war and military success are indispensable, not only as satisfying the appetite of the army on whose bayonets he was borne into the Tuileries, but also as enlisting in his service the enthusiasm of the French nation. Martial triumph abroad makes tyranny, and the tyrant, and the tyrant's successors, beloved and safe at home; and such triumph, for such objects, Louis Napoleon is now pursuing. The traditions and interests of the Bonaparte family he also no doubt keeps steadily in view. Thus it is plain that he intends to establish his burly and bothersome cousin Prince Napoleon on a new throne in Central Italy, where the King of Sardinia has just been compelled to abandon his claims to Tuscany, which he had begun to annex to his own dominions. Whether Napoleon III, will try to restore the Murat dynasty at Naples is not so clear—the present representative of that branch of the Bonaparte line being rather too much of a fool to make a tolerable King of; but nobody can well dispute that to aggrandize himself and the Bonapartes in general along with him is the supreme end of his career. In this respect he faithfully cherishes the injunctions laid down in the famous will of his putative uncle. At the same time he probably finds a keen pleasure in the consciousness that he is undoing the work of the Vienna Congress, and revising and reversing all that long history of the coalition against Napoleon I. which culminated in the catastrophe of Waterloo. That catastrophe too, will also be avenged at the right moment if Napoleon III. can have his way; and then, if not before, he will restore to France her natural northern boundary, the Rhine. But it will probably be some time before that consumation is reached.

The ambition of the King of Sardinia is a more genial and generous passion than any we can attribute to Napoleon III, for the reason that he is a much more genial and generous fellow. The representative of one of the oldest ruling families in Europe, with dominions which the settlement of 1815 considerably increased, and with a degree of political fairness and honesty which has not been common among European princess, we can easily tolerate if not applaud his wish to add to his dominions the rich and populous provinces of the Lombardo-Venetian Kingdom. But to find a truly noble motive in this war, we must go to the Italian people. Centuries of internal division and discord, and of foreign oppression have only made them loathe the one and detest the other. And as the foreign influence chiefly maintains the national disunity, it is the foreign, or rather the Austrian domination which above all they hate, and whose abolition they most urgently long for. "Out with the Austrians!" is their cry; and in the whole range of European politics, there is no purpose and no hope more worthy of entire success than this of theirs.

This brings us to the question: With which party should Americans and Republicans feel a sympathy? We answer that our sympathies must be entirely and exclusively with the Italians. No generous heart in the whole world but must be warmly engaged in their interest.—But, for this very reason, our regret is only the more poignant at seeing them and their noble patriotism used for his own selfish ends by such a man as Louis Napoleon. If they were animated by any base and contemptible motive, one might see them fall into his wiles without a pang; but as it is, there is something inexpressibly tragic in the spectacle. We know very well what many intelligent Italians say on this point; we have also read Kossuth's speeches; but, in our judgment, they are misled by their feelings and their desires. They are not so much the dupes of Louis Napoleon as of their own hopes. Forgetting that if Italy is freed by his arms she must then submit to his dictation, they delude themselves into a wilful confidence in his present honesty. Putting the antecedents of the man out of sight, they conceive that he has now become sincere, disinterested and philanthropic. But what sort of liberty is the tyrant of France likely to bestow on Italy? Will he tolerate in his Italian dependents a degree of freedom which he does not permit to his French subjects? Will he give them the liberty of the press? Will he allow an independent legislature among them? Will they be a whit freer to manage their own affairs in their own way after the expulsion of the Austrians than they were before? And will the change be any other than that which consists in receiving orders from Paris instead of Vienna? And what will be the advantage of being under French rather than Austrian despotism? It is true that in some respects the French is the less brutal, the more cunning, and infinitely the more hypocritical of the two; but, as respects the great interests of political freedom and social progress in Italy, the one is, in our judgment just as good as the other. And as this war is, to all substantial intents, waged between the French and the Austrian autocrats, with the Italians only used as a pretext and a make-weight by one of them, it appears to us preeminently a war for Americans and Republicans to observe as disinterested spectators; judging the acts of both parties and the varying phases of the struggle with equal and impartial justice; and hoping that from the efforts at mutual destruction of these two gigantic despotisms some unknown higher good may yet be providentially evolved for mankind.

We are willing to agree with the friends of Napoleon III. who contend so clamorously that he does not now aim at acquisitions of territory by conquest, as if that were something of great moment in his favor. Of course he has bargained with Sardinia that the boundaries of France shall be corrected by the incorporation of Savoy with the Empire in exchange for Lombardy, which is to be taken from Austria and added to Piedmont. But what is the essential difference whether all Italy is nominally annexed to France and ruled directly by Napoleon III. or whether it is divided up into three or four States, ruled by the Napoleonic system and with lieutenants of Napoleon III. as their ostensible monarchs? The controlling power would be the same, and the despotism would be just as thorough in the one case as in the other. And the despotism would excel that of Austria in this important respect, that Piedmont, hitherto the only free country of the Peninsula, would be completely subjected to its pernicious influence. Constitutional government there, however its pretenses may be kept up, must date its demise from the day of the Bonapartist alliance.

On motion, the Convention proceeded to nominate a candidate for Senator, which resulted as follows:

L. W. Hall, of Altoona, received 42 votes.
Seth R. McCune, of Huston, " 4 "

On motion, the nomination of L. W. Hall was made unanimous.

On motion of S. P McFadden, the nominee for Senator was authorized to appoint his own conferees.

On motion, the Convention proceeded to nominate a candidate for Assembly, whereupon Jacob Burley, of Tyrone, and James Roller, of Huston, were placed in nomination.

Previous to a vote being taken, the name of James Roller was withdrawn, and, on motion of J. G. Adlum, Jacob Burley was unanimously nominated.

On motion, Hugh A. Caldwell, present incumbent, was unanimously re-nominated for Register and Recorder.

On motion, the Convention proceeded to nominate a candidate for County Commissioner, which resulted as follows:

	1st Ballot.	2d Ballot.	3d Ballot.	4th Bal.
Geo L Cowen,	6	10	17	25
Nehemiah Campbell,	2	withdrawn
Joseph Fesy,	11	18	12	withd'n
George Koon,	20	19	17	21
Philip Hileman,	3	withdrawn
Henry Lingenfelter,	4	4	withdrawn

Geo. L. Cowen having received a majority of all the votes cast, was declared the nominee, and, on motion, the nomination was made unanimous.

On motion, the Convention proceeded to nominate a candidate for Director of the Poor, which resulted as follows:

John McClure, Hollidaysb'g, received 21 votes.
Peter Good, of Logan, " 25 "

Peter Good having received a majority of all the votes cast, was declared the nominee, and, on motion, the nomination was made unanimous.

On motion, the Convention proceeded to nominate a candidate for Auditor, which resulted as follows:

Alex. M. Lloyd received 28 votes.
Joseph Stiffler " 10 "

Alex. M. Lloyd having received a majority of all the votes cast, was declared the nominee, and on motion, the nomination was made unanimous.

On motion, the Convention proceeded to nominate a candidate for County Surveyor, which resulted as follows:

James L. Gwin received 32 votes.
John Miller " 11 "

On motion, the nomination of James L. Gwin was made unanimous.

After the close of the nominations, the following resolutions were read and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the times demand for the nomination of the Peoples' Party for the Presidency in 1860, a man who is emphatically of the people—and that in SIMON CAMERON, of Pennsylvania, we find the man for the times. Born in Pennsylvania, educated in Pennsylvania, he is identified with the interests of Pennsylvania, and the interests of Pennsylvania are the interests of our whole country. With him for a candidate, the old Keystone State will give the People's Party an overwhelming majority in 1860.

Resolved, That the nominations of the Peoples' State Convention have our decided approbation and will receive our undivided support.

Resolved, That if integrity of character, high mental culture and sound conservative opinions on all important political questions of the day, constitute guarantees of the fitness of a man for high official trusts, we feel justified in warmly recommending to the people of Pennsylvania the Hon. SAMUEL CALVIN for the high position of Governor in 1860.

Resolved, That we hail with delight the strong expression of public sentiment in favor of our fellow citizen, the Hon. Samuel Calvin, as the standard-bearer of the Peoples' Party in 1860.

On motion, the Convention adjourned.

THE MARRIAGE RELATION AMONG SLAVES.—The Episcopal Convention of South Carolina has declared that the marriage relation binds slave and master equally; that every Christian master should so regulate the sale or disposal of a married slave as not to infringe the Divine injunction, forbidding the separation of husband and wife; that where involuntary and final separation of married slaves has occurred, the case of the sufferers is to be distinguished from any human agency which has separated them. The master is responsible to God for disregarding his commands; the slaves are entitled to sympathy and consideration; that in such cases of separation, where neither party is in fault, and where separation appears to be permanent and final, the refusal to allow a second marriage would often produce much evil and hardship, and this convention, in giving its judgement in favor of such marringes, would do so in the qualified language applied by the Apostles in case of self-restraint —"If they cannot contain, let them marry; for it is better to marry than to burn."

A FACT OF IMPORTANCE TO FARMERS.—It is stated that in 1817 a heavy frost destroyed all the wheat and most of the other crops in the month of June. Many of the farmers mowed their wheat fields to secure the straw for fodder. In a few days the wheat sprouted out again at the root and on such fields as were not plowed up or pastured a very fine crop was realized.—As corroborative of this fact a friend informs us that some wheat which was killed by the recent terrible frost is sprouting already, although the old stalk is still standing. It is coming up thicker on the ground than before, and as the wheat was very light on many fields, it may turn out that the frost has really done good in many instances. There is another benefit also arising from the severity of the frost. It is alleged that the weevel is destroyed. If this is generally the case, the loss of a single wheat crop will not be so sorely felt, for of late years the crop has been almost ruined, in many sections, by the ravages of this insect pest.

DESPERATE COMBAT.—Last Sunday morning a severe conflict took place between a cat bird and a copper-headed snake, in the alley in the rear of the Episcopal Church, in this city, which attracted a number of persons to the spot by the fluttering and screaming of the bird. The combat was a most determined and desperate one, lasting, it is said, by those who witnessed it, probably half an hour, in which the snake appeared to act on the defensive. For some time the conflict was doubtful—now the snake seemed to have the best of it, and now the bird—until, finally the bird with a savage scream and rapid swoop, lit upon him "like a duck on a June bug," and effectually settling his hash.—The snake was a venomous copper-head and measured about 12 inches in length.—Lancaster Union.

GRAPE CULTURE AT HAMMONTON.—A number of grape growers from Ohio have introduced the culture of grape at Hammonton, New Jersey.—It is twenty-five miles southeast from Philadelphia, and the soil and climate is considered by many the best adapted for the grape of any in the Union. Frost never injure the vine, and there is a high district of land between the little and great Egg Harbor rivers, where they have never been known to suffer from mildew or rot. We understand that some forty vineyards were set out the past season, mostly Catawba and the Isabella.

The market here presents a great inducement, grapes bringing twice the sum they do in Cincinnati; being within but several hours of either New York of Philadelphia by railroad, the market is unlimited. Adjoining Hammouton is a bottle manufactory, and every appliance necessary for extensive wine-making.

Hammonton is a new settlement but of marvelous growth, rivalling many of the Western towns in rapid increase. A little over a year ago the tract of land was opened to sale, and within that time the polulation has increased some 1,500; over 300 buildings have been put up; stores, mills, churches and every facility of an old place introduced. It was a portion of an old tract of land, which has been for generations in one family, and is only now thrown in the market for sale.

Its proximity to market and advantages of climate iusures its rapid improvement. The soil is said to be early and very productive.—The crops raised are excellent. Many persons from this State are going there, and we are sure it is much more desirable than many points at the West.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

BISHOP PIERCE ON TEXAS.—The Rt. Rev. Bishop Pierce, now journeying through Texas on his way, overland, to the great Eldorado of the West, thus writes of our new and flourishing sister of the southwest:

"Texas is a curious country—a paradox.—Everything is in the superlative, or contradictory, or marvelous. It is the richest and the poorest—has the best land, the meanest water; is the hardest country to live in, and has the most to live on; the days are the hottest and the nights the coolest; the best roads and the slowest travel; the finest building material and the least use made of it; there are more clouds and less rain; more plains and less timber; more ropes to tie horses and yet more estrays; a poor country for farming and yet the most productive; the least work and the largest yield; the horses are small and the cattle big; the frogs have horns and the rabbits have ears like mules; the people are intelligent without general education—inventive without being tricky—refined without mannerism—rich without money—hospitable without house—bold, generous and brave. In fine, here is an empire in extent and resources, but in the slowest process of evolution and yet destined to population, wealth and power. There is much to admire, but little to deplore; many things to enchant, but few to offend; and for the people and their institutions, there is a splendid future."

ELOPEMENT EXTRAORDINARY.—An occurrence which has given rise to a good deal of excitement, took place, a few days since, in Oxford township, Chester County. A young lady—a white woman, respectably connected—was living in a farmer's family as a domestic. A mulatto was employed on the farm as a laborer.—The two became enamored of each other and resolved to marry. The party to whom they applied to perform the ceremony, however, declined. Before the marriage was effected the girl's parents were informed of the condition of things. They were horror stricken and overwhelmed with shame. No time was lost, and every effort was made by them to dissuade the deluded girl to forego her purpose. Her brother also remonstrated with her, as only a brother can. All efforts, however, to induce her to give up her swarthy lover were unavailing.—They only made her cling to him closer. The matter became noised about the neighborhood, and a disposition was manifested to lynch the black fellow. This came to the ears of the infatuated girl. She met the dusky fellow.—Their purpose was at once taken, they determined to elope together, and did so. They disappeared from the neighborhood about ten days ago, and have not since been heard from. It is supposed they have gone West. The girl's parents are almost distracted.—Village Record.

WHAT A COUNTRY CLERGYMAN THINKS OF THE OPERA.—The editor of the Gospel Banner, who is also an esteemed clergyman in Maine, having recently visited the opera at Boston, gives his impression as follows:

"The music of the orchestra, and now and then a strain of the singing, were fine, but the performance, as a whole, we thought a bore.—Whiskered men and painted women, tricked out in plush and tinsel, growling, and grunting, and shrieking, and squalling, sometimes in solo and then in duet, and anon the whole swarm, like so many cats, gesticulating, and meuncing, and embracing, and frowning and going through with all sorts of antics, in a gibberish that nobody can understand—that is the Italian opera as we heard and saw it. To us—and we profess not only to have a ear but two ears for music—a quiet seat on a mossy rock, near some pond full of frogs, would have been quite as edifying, and nearly as musical."

A NEW KIND OF INFERNAL MACHINE.—The Columbus Journal is responsible for the following: "A professional gentleman, living in the southern part of the city, was the victim, yesterday, of a most malignant attempt of assassination. He had stepped from his office on a business errand, and on his return found several small nuts lying upon the table, and, wondering how they got there, took one and placed it between his teeth for the purpose of cracking, when a loud explosion ensued, lacerating and burning his mouth in a shocking manner. Examination showed the remaining nuts—filberts—to be charged with powder and friction igniting material, calculated if exploded in the mouth to blow a man's head off. The sufferer knows of no one whom he would suspect of the dastardly act of placing the infernal machines on his table.

TERRIBLE RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A terrible accident occurred on the Michigan Southern Road, on Tuesday last, occasioned by the washing away of a culvert. There were about one hundred persons on the train. Thirty-three have been taken from the ruins dead, and fifty or sixty others wounded. Rest not heard from. The train was running at the rate of twenty miles an hour.

TO PRESERVE CHERRIES.—Add to the cherries on equal weight of nice loaf sugar. Melt the sugar with the fruit, taking care not to boil. After the sugar is melted, let them stand in a hot place for three hours; then pour out in soup plates, cover them with a thin cloth, and set in the sun for several days. By preserving this way, the fruit retains its natural flavor and color, and will keep the year round.

☞ The St. John (N. B.) Morning News says of a cotemporary, that "the most curious part of this machine is, that he has a head, the weakest part of him, standing directly between a pair of shoulders, strong enough to carry more sins than those of any other six men in the Province."

☞ Christopher Robinson, American Republican, was elected to Congress from the Eastern District of Rhode Island on Wednesday. He received 3,200 votes, and Thomas Davis, Straight Republican, 2,500.

Altoona Tribune.

Copr! Copr!! Copr!!!—Our local cotemporary of the Harrisburg Patriot & Union, expresses our ideas so exactly and pictures so vividly our situation at this moment, that we can not resist the temptation to clip his article and thus git rid of our "imp of darkness" for a few minutes. He says, "Of all the hideous sounds that startle the human ear, this (copy) is the one which grates the harshest thunder on an editor's tympanum. No matter in what pleasures he may be luxuriating, let but the printer's imp whisper the word in his auriculars, and it sends an instant spasm through his anatomy. From the stern, inexorable necessity which this cry imposes, there is no escape; 'tis unshunable as death—"fixed as the adamantine walls of Heaven." Whether he goes to his task with that hopeful sense sustaining him which a vigorous and clear spirit gives the soul, or groans under a lethargy which renders him powerless as infancy—whether his thoughts bubble up to the well-head, when wanted a cask at a time, to be bottled off ad libitum, or his mind, empty of ideas, creaks and wheezes like a dry old pump—it is all the same; the waters of intellect must continue to pour in steady streams—sparkling, clear and strong. Overflowing or barren—feasting or starving—his imagination must be wrung daily, or perhaps hourly, for novelties to meet the merciless demands of the "copy" thundering devil at his elbow. There is no chance for day-dreaming, or enjoying the sweets of a resting slumber, while the young imp is bellowing in his ears.—Like a remorseless creditor, or Pinkerton's "shadows"—the dogging fiend is ever present at the moment of fancied security, and has most infernal lungs.

What a pity 'tis that thinking and writing can't be done by steam! What a glorious thing it would be if some "calculating" Yankee could follow up Dan Marble's celebrated machine, which, taking in a whole sheep, wool and "short ends" at one end, sent it out in a few moments at the other, metamorphosed into chops, all hot and smoking, roast mutton, and a full suit of woolen clothes. A machine to grind out leaders! What a "chief-done-over," as Mrs. Partington would says, of ingenuity! How pleasant! how easy! and how economical! With such an assistant, an editor would be the happiest, freest, and most independent dog in the community.—The man who will invent such a machine will be "puffed" by ten thousand presses while he lives, and when he dies will outshine Faust and Guttenburg in glory, and be worshipped through endless ages as the patron-saint of the editorial profession.

But hark! The cry of "copy" deafens our ears, and a smooched face "darkens the air" of our sanctum. Here, you son of Beelzebub, take this and "mizzle."

Decided.—The important suit between A. M. Fox, H. White and the Penn'a Railroad Company, which has occupied so much of the time of our county Courts for a year past, was decided so far as our local tribunal is concerned on Saturday evening last, after a trial of eight days' duration. The case was given to the jury in the afternoon, and after being out about an hour, they returned with a verdict for the defendants. We understand the jury stood eleven to one on first tally. The suit was brought by the Whites to recover a balance of some $16,000 for wood alleged to have been furnished the Company on contract. It was tried last summer before arbitrators, when the plaintiffs received an award of $11,000. Neither party being satisfied with this decision, the case was carried up to Court. It was tried at last December Term, when the jury awarded the plaintiffs $7,500.—With this they were still not satisfied, and both parties demanded a new trial, and got it, with the result above stated. We have not heard whether the Whites intend to contest the matter any further. The trial was conducted by Messrs. Judge White, H. D. Foster, S. S. Blair, and Johnston & Mullin, Esqrs., for plaintiffs, and Messrs. John Scott, of Huntingdon, and C. L. Pershing, of Johnstown, Esqrs., for defendants.—Johnstown Tribune.

S. S. Association.—The committee appointed at the last meeting of the Altoona Union Sabbath School Association, to select subjects for discussion at next meeting, which will be held to-morrow (Friday) evening, in the United Brethren Church, report that the following will be submitted:—

1st. What are the requisite qualifications of a good Sabbath School Teacher?

2nd. What are some of the particular defects in a teacher which renders failure of success most frequent?

3d. What are the qualifications of an efficient Sabbath School Superintendent?

4th. How can we secure a more general co-operation of the membership of the churches in the Sabbath School enterprise?

Young Men and Ladies.—An exchange, in noticing the fact that several of our cotemporaries are reprimanding the young men of their towns for standing on the street corners of evenings and staring at ladies as they pass, says—"Now we can see no great evil in looking at the ladies as they pass; besides there is no evidence that the ladies dislike to be looked at. We think they rather like it of the two, else why so often on the streets but to see and be seen? We'll venture a dish of strawberries and cream that if the young men were all out of town for a month, there would be very few young ladies' shoes want mending during that time." More than likely.

☞ No Summer Vacation at the Iron City College, Pittsburgh, Pa., owing to the improved prospects for active business throughout the entire country this coming fall. Upwards of 200 Students are in daily attendance; hence the entire faculty is retained, and there will be no summer vacation, giving every facility for young men to enter during the summer, and be thoroughly prepared, at a cost of only $40, in time for the business season.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Military Celebration.—The military companies of this place intend celebrating the coming Fourth of July, in an appropriate manner, in Beales' Woods, on the Plank Road, between this place and Allegheny Furnace, and cordially invite the citizens of the town and surrounding country to unite with them, bringing whatever, in the line of eatables, they may think proper. Persons living on the East side of the Railroad who desire to join in this celebration will leave their provisions at the Ununited Brethren Church, and those on the West side will deposit their provisions at Shultz's Hall, from which places it will be conveyed to the woods. The celebration is to be a general one, the provision all placed on a long table which will be erected on the ground and all present be invited to partake. A platform will be laid down, on which all those who take delight in "tipping the light fantastic toe," can enjoy themselves.

Where are You Going on the Fourth?—This is the salutatory of almost every person you meet on the street or elsewhere, and so various are the replies that we can not pretend to say whether the "stay-at-homes" or the "go-aways" are the most numerous; nevertheless, both parties admit that they can not properly enjoy the day and the sports of the evening without calling at Fettinger's Literary Emporium and purchasing a few of the many articles he has received specially for this occasion, consisting of an endless variety of noisy and beautiful fireworks, banners, flags, wreaths and everything necessary to get up decorations, together with toys suitable for presents to children. Be sure to call and examine his stock soon, as the articles named are disappearing rapidly.

This Way, Ye Pic Nicers.—Jake Wise, the excellent baker, two doors above Hileman's store, request us to state that he will have on hand a large stock of cakes, pies, confectionaries, fruits, nuts, &c., to supply pic nic parties on the glorious Fourth or at any other time. All kinds of cakes baked to order on short notice. We know that Jake can get up as fine a cake as any baker in the place, and therefore recommend him to those who wish anything in his line.

He will also have on hand a complete assortment of fireworks, such as squibs, torpedoes, chasers, rockets, fire-wheels, Bengola lights, &c., which he will sell cheap.

Hurrah for the Fourth!—Our young friend, Geo. M. Smith, is now receiving a large supply of fire works of all descriptions, at his store a few doors above the P. O. where young America and all others who take delight in exploding villainous saltpeter or indulging in pyrotechnic displays in commemoration of the day that made us a nation, can be accommodated with the articles made for that pupose. He has also on hand a large assortment of choice confectionaries, nuts, cakes, &c., which he will sell at reasonable prices. He invites a call.

Presentation.—The members and Accepted Lady Visitors of Altoona Division, No. 311 S. of T., are requested to meet in the Division room this (Thursday) evening, on which occasion a handsome Bible will be presented to the Division by Rev. Samuel Creighton, on behalf of the donors, and be received P. W. P., Wm. C. M'Cormick, on behalf of the Division.

J. S. of A. Celebration.—Quite extensive preperations are being made by the Camps of Junion Sons in this place, to attend the celebration at Williamsburg, on Monday next. If we are not mistaken, Camp 54 will take down anything an the ground, if not in numbers, at least in general appearance. We hope that all who participate may enjoy themselves hugely.

Notice.—Notice is hereby given to the stockholders in the Altoona Gas and Water Company, that the second instalment on the Capital Stock is made payable at the Banking House of Wm. M. Lloyd & Co., on or before the 16th day of July 1859. B. F. ROSE, Sec'y.

Altoona, June 30–2t.

No Paper Next Week.—In accordance with our usual custom, no paper will be issued from this office next week, all hands desiring a little recreation.

☞ The thermometer at Roush's Drug Store on Tuesday at noon stood at 89 deg., and at the same time on yesterday (Wednesday) it was up to 91.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Dalley's Magical Pain Extractor.

In all diseases inflammation more or less predominates—now to allay inflammation strikes at the root of disease—hence an immediate cure.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR, and nothing else, will allay inflammation at once, and make a certain cure.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR will cure the following among a great catalogue of diseases: Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Chafes, Sore Nipples, Corns, Bunions, Bruises, Sprains, Bites, Poison, Chilblains, Piles, Scrofula, Ulcers, Fever Sores, Felons, Ear Ache, Piles, Sore Eyes, Gout, Swellings, Rheumatism, Scald Head, Salt Rheum, Baldness, Erysipelas, Ringworm, Barbers' Itch, Small Pox, Measles, Rash, &c., &c.

To some it may appear incredulous that so many diseases should be reached by one article; such an idea will vanish when reflection points to the fact, that the salve is a combination of ingredients, each and every one applying a perfect antidote to its apposite disorder.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR In its effects is magical, because the time is so short between disease and a permanent cure; and it is an extractor, as it draws all disease out of the affected part, leaving nature as perfect as before the injury. It is scarcely necessary to say that no house, work-shop, or manufactory should be one moment without it.

No Pain Extractor is genuine unless the box has upon it a steel plate engraving, with the name of Henry Dalley, Manufacturer.

Sold by G. W. Kessler, Altoona; George A. Jacobs, Hollidaysburg; and by all the Druggists and patent medicine dealers throughout the United States and Canadas.

DR. McLANE'S

CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE AND LIVER PILLS.

☞ A singular combination, but very effectual, as the following will show:

New York, November 20, 1852.

Knowing from experience, the valuable qualities of Dr. McLane's Vermifuge and Liver Pills, prepared by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, I have for some time back considered it my duty, and made it my business, to make those articles known wherever I went among my friends. A short time ago I became acquainted with the case of a young girl, who seemed to be troubled with worms and liver complaint, at the same time, and had been suffering for some two months. Through my persuasion she purchased one bottle of Dr. McLane's Vermifuge, and one box of Liver Pills, which she took according to directions.—The result was, she passed a large quantity of worms, and thinks that one box more of the Pills will restore her to perfect health. Her name and residence can be learned by calling on E. L. Theals, Druggist, corner of Rutger and Monroe streets.

☞ Purchasers will be careful to ask for DR. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE, manufactured by FLEMING BROS. of Pittsburgh, Pa. All other Vermifuges in comparison are worthless. Dr. M'Lane's genuine Vermifuge, also his celebrated Liver Pills, can now be had at all respectable drug stores. None genuine without the signature of FLEMING BROS.

MODERN INVENTIONS.

We know of no invention of modern times that deserves or is destined to occupy a higher niche in the temple of fame, than the discovery or invention of the Vegetable Epileptic Pills, for curing Epilepsy, or Falling Fits, Spasms, Cramps, and all the various modifications of Nervous Disease. Dr. Seth S. Hance, of 108 Baltimore st., Baltimore, Md., the inventor, is certainly entitled to the best wishes of all the benevolent portion of mankind, who experience a pleasure in the alleviation of human suffering. When Dr. Hance first prepared these Pills, he intended them solely for Fits, Cramps and Spasms; but subsequent experience satisfactorily proved to him, that in addition to their remarkable sanative properties in this class of diseases, they exerted a perfect control over the nervous system. He was then induced to try them in cases of Neuralgia, Tic Doloreaux, Nervous Headache, Palpitation of the Heart, Incipient Paralysis, Hysteria, Muscular Debility, and a host of minor diseases, springing from a lack of nervous energy, in all of which his anticipations were crowned with the most sanguine success. Persons at a distance, by writing and sending a remittance to Dr. Hance, can have the medicine forwarded by mail to their post office address, by paying the postage. The prices are for a single box $3, two boxes, $5, or $24 per dozen. We have given his address above.

MOUNT VERNON.—A LETTER

from the Hon. Edward Everett, to the publishers.

Boston, June 8th, 1859.

Gentlemen:—The box containing the view of MOUNT VERNON, arrived yesterday. I am greatly obliged to you for this pleasing specimen of printing in colors, which, besides its interest as a representation of the spot which, more than any other, endears itself to the heart of the country, is worthy of attention as a successful attempt to place works of this kind within the reach of the great mass of the community.

I remain Gentlemen, with many thanks, &c.,

Very respectfully yours,

EDWARD EVERETT.

The subscribers have just issued a picture of MOUNT VERNON, printed in FIFTEEN OIL COLORS, by a new and improved process, by which pictures that have heretofore cost from $3 to $5 can be furnished for fifty cents.—The size of our engraving is 18 by 20 inches; on super calendered heavy plate paper.

NEW AGRICULTURAL SETTLE-

MENT.—To all wanting Farms, a rare opportunity in a delightful and healthy climate 25 miles Southeast of Philadelphia, on the Camden and Atlantic Railroad, New Jersey.

An old estate consisting of several thousands of acres of productive soil has been divided into Farms of various sizes to suit the purchaser. A population of some Fifteen Hundred, from various parts of the Middle States and New England, have settled there the past year, improved their places, and raised excellent crops. The prices of the land is at the low sum of from $15 to $20 per acre, the soil is of the best quality for the production of Wheat, Clover, Corn, Peaches, Grapes and Vegetables. IT IS CONSIDERED THE BEST FRUIT SOIL IN THE UNION. The place is perfectly secure from frosts—the destructive enemy of the farmer. Crops of grain, grass and fruit are now growing and can be seen. By examining the place itself, a correct judgment can be formed of the productiveness of the land. The terms are made easy to secure the rapid improvement of the land, which is only sold for actual improvement. The result has been, that within the past year, some three hundred houses have been erected, two mills, one steam, four stores, some forty vinyards and Peach orchards, planted, and a large number of other improvements, making it a desirable and active place of business.

THE MARKET,

as the reader may perceive from its location, is the BEST IN THE UNION.

Produce bringing double the price than in locations away from the city, and more than double the price than the West. It is known that the earliest and best fruits and vegetables in this latitude come from New Jersey, and are annually exported to the extent of millions.

In locating here, the settler has many advantages. He is within a few hours ride of the great cities of New England and Middle States, he is near his old friends and associations, he is in a settled country where every improvement of comfort and civilization is at hand. He can buy every article he wants at the cheapest price, and sell his produce for the highest, (in the West this is reversed,) he has schools for his children, divine service, and will enjoy an open winter, and delightful climate, where fevers are utter-ly unknown. The result of the change from those from the north, has generally been to restore them to an excellent state of health.

In the way of building and improving, lumber can be obtained at the mills at the rate of $10 to $15 per thousand. Bricks from the brick yard opened in the place, every article can be procured in the place, good carpenters are at hand, and there is no place in the Union where buildings and improvements can be made cheaper.

The reader will at once be struck with the advantages there presented, and ask himself why the property has not been taken up before. The reason is, it was never thrown in the market; and unless these statements were correct, no one would be invited to examine the land before purchasing. This all are expected to do. They will see land under cultivation, such is the extent of the settlement that they will no doubt, meet persons, from their own neighborhood; they will witness the improvements and can judge the character of the population. If they come with a view to settle, they should come prepared to stay a day or two and be ready to purchase, as locations cannot be held on refusal.

There are two daily trains to Philadelphia, and to all settlers who improve, the Railroad Company gives a Free Ticket for six months, and a half-price Ticket for three years.

THE TOWN OF HAMMONTON.

In connection with the agricultural settlement, a new and thriving town has naturally arisen, which presents inducements for any kind of business, particularly stores and manufactories. The Shoe business could be carried on in this place and market to good advantage, also cotton business, and manufactories of agricultural implements or Fancy articles for casting small articles. The improvement has been so rapid as to insure a constant and permanent increase of business. Town lots of a good size, we do not sell small ones, as it would effect the improvement of the place. can be had at from $100 and upwards.

The Hammonton Farmer, a monthly literary and agricultural sheet, containing full information of Hammonton, can be obtained at 25 cents per annum.

Title indisputable—warrantee deeds given, clear of all incumbrance when money is paid. Routs to the land, leave Vine street wharf, Philadelphia for Hammonton by Railroad, at 7½ A. M., or 4½ P. M. Fare 90 cents. When there inquire for Mr. Byrnes. Boarding convenience on hand. Parties had better stop with Mr. Byrnes, a principal, until they have decided as to purchasing, as he will show them over the land in his carriage, free of expense. Letters and applications can be addressed to Landis & Byrnes, Hammonton P. O., Atlantic Co., New Jersey, or S. B. Coughlin, 202 South Fifth Street, Philadelphia.—Maps and information cheerfully furnished.

DR. COGGSWELL'S NEW MEDICAL SALT.

Read the following Certificates to the Efficacy of this Medicine in Inflammatory Diseases.

"For the last three years I have been more or less troubled with Inflammatory Rheumatism, commencing early in the Spring, and lasting until cold weather set in, when I would be relieved for a while, only to be attacked again in the Spring. All my joints would swell and be very sore, attended with the most acute pain. My feet, shoulders, arms, and hands troubled me most, so much so that I could scarcely walk, and almost always required assistance in dressing. During this time I would try everything I could hear of, in the hope of finding a cure. I also tried several physicians, but nothing seemed to help me the least in the world. About two and a half years ago I was attacked as usual, and as usual tried everything to get rid of it, but to no purpose. I kept growing worse, and finally had to give up and stay in the house, where I was confined about four weeks. This time my feet swelled, and were so sore that I could not stand on them or get on my boots, and my hands swelled to twice their usual size. In fact, I was, to all appearances and belief, totally used up. About this time my parents, who reside in Maine, sent for me to come home. I went and after my arrival I commenced trying another remedy, hoping to be cured, but resulting the same as all others. For weeks I had not been able to dress myself or to raise my hand to my head, and suffering the most excruciating pain all the time.—One day my father came in with a paper in which was advertised Dr. Coggswell's MEDICAL SALT, for Inflammatory Diseases only, and wanted me to read and see what I thought of it. I read and laughed at it, pronounced it a humbug, and told him that I had been humbugged enough. He kept urging me, and at last said I could but try it, and if I would write to Dr. C., giving him a description of my disease, he would pay the expense. Of course I could not refuse such an offer and sent for one box. It came in due season, but my faith was not increased, and I laughed at the idea of so small a dose doing me any good, and told my wife that I believed Dr. C. and his Salt both humbugs.—However, I commenced using it and the result was perfectly astonishing. I could hardly realize it myself. I slept soundly all night, which I had not done for a long time, and when I awoke in the morning, strange as it may seem, I was entirely free from pain. I had then taken but one dose, and bathed freely before going to bed. That morning I felt so well that I hardly knew how to contain myself, and went down stairs and told the folks how well I felt, and from that day to this I have not suffered one moment's pain or had an attack of my once dreaded enemy, Rheumatism. I am perfectly well and hearty, and wherever I have a chance I recommend it. A friend of mine, residing in Brooklyn, is now trying it for a bad case of neuralgic rheumatism, and so far it is working admirably.—This is a long story, but I have told all the facts, which I can bring witnesses to substantiate if necessary; and will again say that in the MEDICAL SALT, a sure cure may be found for all inflammatory diseases, and would urge all who are afflicted to give it a trial. GEO. H. DUNCAN.

No. 117 Wall Street, New York.

When it is remembered that the MEDICAL SALT is as efficacious in all other Inflammatory diseases as in Rheumatism, (see descriptive circulars) it will at once be seen that it is a most valuable remedy. Surely those thus afflicted will find in their own condition and in the above statements, enough to induce them to give the MEDICAL SALT a trial.

Price $1,00; Chronic packages, $2,50.

THE CELEBRATED HOLLAND REMEDY FOR

DYSPEPSIA,

DISEASE OF THE KIDNEYS,

LIVER COMPLAINT,

WEAKNESS OF ANY KIND

FEVER AND AGUE,

And the various affections consequent upon a disordered

STOMACH OR LIVER.

Such as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colicky Pains, Heartburn, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, Costiveness, Blind and Bleeding Piles. In all Nervous, Rheumatic and Neuralgic Affections, it has in numerous instances proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a decided cure.

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on strictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Boerhave: Because of its great success in the most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those of our fatherland scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medical virtues must be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vigor in the system.

CAUTION.—The great popularity of this delightful roma has induced many imitations, which the public should guard against purchasing. Be not persuaded to buy anything else until you have given Boerhave's Holland Bitters a fair trial. One bottle will convince you how infinitely superior it is to all these imitations.

THE SECRET INFIRMITIES OF YOUTH AND MATURITY. Just published gratis, the 25th Thousand.

A few words on the Rational Treatment, without Medicine, of Spermatorrhœa or Loss of Sexual Weakness, Nocturnal Emissions, Genital and Nervous Debility, Premature Decay of the System, Impotency and Impediments to marriage generally, by B. DE LANEY, M. D.

The important fact that many alarming complaints, originating in the imprudence and solitude of youth, may be easily removed WITHOUT MEDICINE, is in this small tract, clearly demonstrated; and the entirely new and highly successful treatment, as adopted by the Author, fully explained, by means of which every one is enabled to cure HIMSELF perfectly and at the least possible cost, thereby avoiding all the advertised nostrums of the day.

Sent to any address, gratis and post free in a sealed envelope, by remitting (post paid) two postage stamps to Dr. B. DE LANEY, 88 East 31st Street, New York City.

SUFFERING HUMANITY, READ THIS.—The undersigned takes this method of informing the public generally that there is no medicine now offered to the public that is equal to DU VALL'S GALVANIC OIL in relieving suffering humanity.

I was an observer of its effects on a friend of mine, who suffered almost everything from a neuralgic affection which resisted the best medical treatment in Centre county. We applied freely the Galvanic Oil to the painful part, and gave some inwardly, and in 20 minutes the patient was asleep, and when awakened was free from pain and continued so. This is a positive fact which I am willing to make good at any time. A case of Felon was cured in nearly the same length of time. J. H. HAHN.
